

Hi Festival Friend,

There are now only three days to go until the TSB Bank Festival of Lights light up Pukekura Park. Final tweaks are being made to the lights so they're ready to wow you from Sunday. The artists and designers have been working all week installing the new features and Santa and his elves have safely landed on the roof of the Bellringer Pavilion to greet you as you enter the park!

We've got an exciting new TSB Bank Festival of Lights product that we're selling this year – the Tush Cush!

Stay comfortable while watching some of the great On Stage performers this season while sitting on your self-inflating Tush Cush. At only $15 each, this nifty accessory will easily fit into your handbag or picnic basket.

You can pick up a Tush Cush from the Glow Products Stall on the Hatchery Lawn in Pukekura Park. Or the Festival Merchandise page on our website to buy one now – they're selling fast, so don't miss out!

The festival programmes were sent out last week with the entertainment kicking off on Friday 19 December. If, for some reason, you didn't receive a copy, please let us know and we'll pop one in the post.

And don't forget that you can check out www.festivaloflights.co.nz for a full line-up of all the great entertainment on offer. Your summer has never looked so good!

Looking forward to seeing you at the festival!
